PEOPLE INC.

CORPORATE COMPLIANCE PLAN

People Inc. and its affiliates (collectively, “the Agency”) have adopted a Corporate Compliance Program (“Compliance Program”) to further its mission, values and legal duty to promote adherence to all applicable state and federal statutes and regulations, and to conduct business in a manner that supports integrity in operations. This Corporate Compliance Plan (“Compliance Plan” or “Plan”) describes the Agency’s Compliance Program. This Plan is not intended to set forth all of the substantive programs and practices of the Agency which are designed to achieve compliance in the many areas in which the Agency operates. Rather, it is intended to establish internal controls in order to assure that business is conducted professionally and lawfully, and to prevent, detect, correct and report fraud, waste, abuse and other improper conduct¹.

The Agency’s Compliance Program, Compliance Plan, and policies and procedures demonstrate the Agency’s commitment to honest and responsible corporate and provider conduct as it carries out its care-giving mission. This message is communicated through the Agency’s Compliance Program to the individuals receiving services at the Agency, the Agency’s employees and independent contractors, and the community at large.

SCOPE

The Compliance Plan applies to all facilities under the Agency’s operating certificates and to all affected individuals, including employees, Board of Director (“Board”) members and officers, volunteers, interns, students, independent contractors, appointees, vendors², and other persons of affiliates associated with the Agency such that the person or affiliate contributes to the Agency’s entitlement to Medicaid reimbursement (“Affected Individuals”). The Compliance Program applies to: (1) billings; (2) payments; (3) medical necessity and quality of care; (4) governance; (5) mandatory reporting; (6) credentialing; and (7) other risk areas that are or could be identified by the Agency.

COMPLIANCE PROGRAM RESPONSIBILITY

¹ Note that personnel issues are not compliance issues unless an employee believes that they have been intimidated or retaliated against for reporting a compliance issue in which case they should contact the Corporate Compliance Officer. All other personnel issues should be reported to the Director of Human Resources.

² Note that only those vendors that contribute to the Agency’s entitlement to Medicaid reimbursement are covered by this Plan. Examples include persons providing health care services and supplies (durable medical equipment, medications, nursing supplies, etc.)

Proper implementation of the Agency's Compliance Program is the responsibility of all Affected Individuals. All Affected Individuals are responsible for acquiring sufficient knowledge, based on their level of responsibility, to recognize potential compliance issues related to their duties and to seek appropriate advice in dealing with those issues. All Affected Individuals are expected to be familiar and comply with the Compliance Program Standards of Conduct ("Standards of Conduct"), this Compliance Plan, and applicable policies and procedures that describe the Agency's expectations. Affected Individuals are also expected to comply with all federal and state laws and regulations that govern their role within the Agency and conduct business, at all times, in a manner that supports integrity in its operations. Conduct contrary to this expectation is a violation of the Standards of Conduct, this Compliance Plan, and/or applicable policies and procedures.

Each supervisor and manager is responsible for ensuring that the Affected Individuals within their supervision understand the importance of, and act in accordance with, the Standards of Conduct, this Compliance Plan, and compliance policies. The failure of supervisors and managers to so instruct their subordinates or to take reasonable measures to detect non-compliance or improper conduct of their subordinates may result in corrective action, up to and including termination.

Illegal acts or improper conduct may subject the Agency and Affected Individuals to severe criminal and civil penalties. All Affected Individuals must report any conduct that they believe violates this Compliance Plan, the Agency's policies, or laws and/or regulations to their supervisor(s), the Compliance Officer, the Agency's anonymous Compliance Hotline, or by using the Agency's Doing It Right form. Individuals who report such conduct in good faith shall not be retaliated against or intimidated for making such a report.

Employees who engage in fraud, waste, abuse or other improper or unethical conduct will be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the Agency's corrective action policies, including, but not limited to, termination of employment. Other Affected Individuals, including independent contractors, vendors, and Board members and officers will also face disciplinary action for non-compliance and improper conduct. The Compliance Officer, in consultation with Human Resources and, if necessary, outside counsel, will ensure that disciplinary mechanisms in place for verified instances of non-compliance or improper or unethical conduct are applied consistently and in a manner that is appropriate considering the nature and extent of the non-compliance or improper conduct.

VI. COMPLIANCE AUDIT AND RISK IDENTIFICATION

The Agency desires to identify compliance issues before they become legal problems. To that end, the Compliance Officer and Compliance Committee shall develop a system for routine identification and evaluation of compliance risk areas and a system for self-evaluation of such risk areas. Such a system shall include the performance of regular, periodic compliance audits of each Agency program by internal or external auditors, the department heads, and/or the Agency's Corporate Compliance and/or Internal Quality Review Teams. Billing audits of each Agency program will be conducted at least annually by the Agency's Corporate Compliance and/or Internal Quality Review Teams.

The Compliance Officer shall review and track all internal and external compliance audits and reviews (including peer reviews), and shall report the findings of audits and reviews to the Compliance Committee. The Compliance Officer shall also conduct regular, periodic reviews of the audit tools used by the Agency and revise them to reflect changes in laws, regulations, agency guidance, and/or best practices.

In addition, the Compliance Officer and Compliance Committee shall periodically identify potential risk areas by examining specific issues associated with the delivery and payment of services provided by the Agency, including:

1. Relevant work plans, enforcement initiatives, and other resources of any applicable state, local, or federal governmental enforcement and oversight agencies;
2. Risk areas identified by the Agency's own internal compliance audits and reporting mechanisms and external compliance audits; and

3. Common audit findings or initiatives of relevant governing and accrediting government agencies.

There must also be a system in effect for evaluation of potential or actual non-compliance as a result of audits and self-evaluations. From the risk assessment, the Compliance Officer will develop, subject to approval by the Compliance Committee, an annual work plan for conducting audits and implementing other preventative measures. The Agency shall document results of work plan activities.

VII. DETECTION, RESOLUTION, AND RESPONSE

Subject to review and approval by the Compliance Committee, the Compliance Officer shall develop and implement policies and procedures regarding the investigation of any actual or potential violation of this Compliance Plan, the Standards of Conduct, the Agency's policies, and/or federal or state law or regulation. The policies and procedures will provide guidance on how potential compliance problems are investigated and resolved, and will include, but will not be limited to, how to conduct investigations, communicate findings, and implement follow-up reviews.

Upon receiving a credible report of suspected or actual fraud, waste, abuse, or other improper or unethical conduct, or upon the identification of a potential or actual compliance problem in the course of self-evaluation or audits, the Compliance Officer will investigate such report or problem through the Agency's internal compliance processes, and involve outside counsel, auditors, or other health care or human services' experts to assist in an investigation, as appropriate and necessary. The internal investigation will be conducted as appropriate and may include interviews, documentation reviews, and root cause analyses. If the Compliance Officer determines it is in the best interests of the Agency to keep the contents and/or findings of the investigation confidential and not subject to disclosure to outside third parties, the Compliance Officer shall arrange for legal counsel to conduct and/or supervise the investigation under the attorney client privilege.

The Agency shall respond to and correct compliance problems promptly and thoroughly and maintain documentation of the investigation and its results in a written report of findings and recommendations for corrective action. The written report may be subject to the attorney client privilege if it is prepared by the Agency's outside legal counsel. The Compliance Officer and/or legal counsel shall present the written report or a summary thereof to the Compliance Committee and President/CEO. A. Federal Laws.

1. The Federal False Claims Act (FCA). The Federal False Claims Act prohibits a person from submitting a claim to the federal government that he/she knows (or should know) is false. The False Claims Act also imposes liability on an individual who knowingly submits a false record or document to the government in order to receive reimbursement or obtains money from the federal government to which he or she may not be entitled, and then uses false statements or records in order to retain the money. Examples of the types of activity prohibited by the FCA include but are not limited to: (i) billing for services that were not actually rendered, (ii) billing for a more highly reimbursed service or product than the one provided, (iii) falsely certifying that services were medically necessary, (iv) double billing; and (v) failing to refund overpayments made by a federal health care program. Individuals may be entitled to bring an action under the FCA and share in a percentage of any recovery. However, if the action has no merit and/or is primarily for the purpose of harassing the Agency, the individual may have to pay the Agency for the Agency's legal fees and costs.

Proof of specific intent to defraud is not required. However, honest mistakes or mere negligence are not the basis of false claims. The FCA provides for civil penalties per false claim plus three times the amount of damages that the government sustains.

2.. Federal Anti-Kickback Law. Individuals/entities may not knowingly offer, pay, solicit, or receive remuneration in exchange for referring, furnishing, purchasing, leasing or ordering a service or item paid for by Medicare, Medicaid, or other federal health care program unless the transaction fits within a safe harbor. This applies to any form of remuneration to induce or reward referrals for federal health care program business (money, free or discounted items or services, overpayments or underpayments, waivers of co-payments or deductibles, low interest loans or subsidies, or business opportunities that are not commercially reasonable. Physicians³ or their family member who have an ownership or compensation interest with an entity that provides "designated health services" shall not refer a patient in need of designated health services for which payment may be made under Medicare or Medicaid to such entities unless that ownership or compensation arrangement is structured to fit within a regulatory exception. Penalties include repayment of Medicare or Medicaid reimbursement and civil penalties.

4. Civil Monetary Penalties Law. Individuals are prohibited from specified conduct including: submitting false or fraudulent claims or misrepresenting facts, kickbacks, offering inducements to

They include: 1) presenting a false or fraudulent claim for services, submitting false information to obtain greater Medicaid reimbursement, or submitting false information in order to obtain authorization; 2) falsifying or altering business records; and 3) filing false claims for insurance payments. Violators are subject to criminal prosecution, fines, and imprisonment.

3. Anti-Kickback Law. Medicaid providers are prohibited from offering, paying, soliciting, receiving, or giving anything in exchange for the referral of Medicaid services. Violators are subject to civil and criminal enforcement.

4. Self-Referral Law. Practitioners who order laboratory, pharmacy, radiation therapy, physical therapy, or imaging services are prohibited from referring patients to a health care provider when the practitioner, or the practitioner's immediate family, has a financial relationship with the health care provider. There are some exceptions to this prohibition which may make such referrals acceptable.

C. Whistleblower Protections.

Remedies include reinstatement, two times back pay plus interest, litigation costs, and attorney's fees. However, if the employee's action has no basis in law or fact or is primarily for harassment, the employee may have to pay the Agency's legal fees and costs.

Remedies include reinstatement, two times back pay plus interest, and litigation costs and attorneys' fees. However, if the employee's action has no basis in law and fact or is primarily for harassment, the employee may have to pay the Agency's legal fees and costs.
